CTELT/Learning Technology Videos

If your course has links to video content that was created for you by CTELТ please read further.

Attention faculty: If any of your courses have links to video content that was created for you by CTELТ(these videos might have also been delivered via DVD), there is a chance that the link to these videos might need to be updated.

The issue occurred when a server was decommissioned that contained MANY videos, spanning across several departments. All of these videos have now been migrated to an online video storage system.

We recommend checking the Blackboard links all of your videos that were created for you and are in courses that are currently ‘live’. If you encounter a video that is no longer working, please send the following information to nriedel@fhsu.edu:

- Your Name
- Video Titles
- Your Department Name and

▪ Course Title

We will replace the links to your videos as soon as we can.
